The world of banking is changing and so are we

Bank of Ireland customers in Northern Ireland have been steadily moving to digital banking over the past 10 years. The pace of this change has increased recently. Since 2017, for example, digital banking has increased by 50% while visits to our branches have sharply declined. Increasingly, our customers are using Post Office services with 52% of over-the-counter transactions now made in Post Office branches.

We have invested in technology that enables customers to bank digitally - including launching a new banking app and updating our online banking. Alongside this we have also introduced digital ways to pay with Google Pay and Apple Pay. Today, almost 80% of our customers are using online as their preferred channel to open a personal account.

As we continue to adapt, we must change how we provide banking services. Therefore, after careful consideration, we have made the difficult decision to close Downpatrick branch on 30 June 2021. However, in line with regulatory guidance, we will consider the impact on customers of the closure date should lockdown measures be in place at that time.

How we made the decision to close this branch

When we close a branch, we complete a detailed analysis which includes:

- ▶ How customers are choosing to bank with us.
- ▶ How often customers use the branch and how that is changing.
- ▶ The other ways for customers to do their everyday banking including the distance to alternative banking services.
- ▶ Access to cash including the impact on those who may need additional support.
- ▶ Availability and frequency of public transport.
- ▶ Location of remaining branches in Northern Ireland.

What will this mean for our customers?

We will invest in a smaller, modernised network of 13 branches with improved online services for customers. In addition, our customers can bank at over 500 Post Office branches across Northern Ireland, see page 7 for more information.

Following the closure, you can continue to use any Bank of Ireland branch in Northern Ireland for your everyday banking. You can also use your local Post Office and withdraw cash at the nearest free-to-use cash machine (see page 6 to find out where they are located). However, accounts held at Downpatrick branch will now be administered from Belfast City Branch. Key account details such as your sort code and account number will not change and you can continue to use your existing debit card and cheque book.

We are committed to supporting you through this change and the other ways you can continue to do your banking with us.

This document outlines the reasons for our decision and the alternative services available. It also sets out the steps we have taken to minimise the impact of our decision to close Downpatrick branch on our customers.

We are writing to members of the local community – including MPs, MLAs and Councillors, as well as Northern Ireland business groups and charities – and will provide further information on the changes on request. We will also include their feedback in updates of this document.

We are also communicating with a wide range of stakeholders in relation to this change, including local representatives, business organisations, and advocacy groups.

Vulnerable customers

Bank of Ireland UK recognise that the closure of this branch impacts customers who find themselves in a vulnerable position, particularly during this period of COVID-19 restrictions. We are committed to supporting you, whatever your circumstances, so you can continue to access the banking services that you need – whether through Bank of Ireland UK or elsewhere. We will ensure that you receive information in a way which is appropriate to your needs, for example by providing larger print letters and branch closure information. If you are experiencing difficulties in accessing the branch, we can provide support to answer any queries that you may have. This support will also extend to us calling you if we believe that we can provide you with further help by phone. Our branch staff will also continue to be available to help and support you during the branch closure period.

Access to Banking Standard

We are signatories of the Access to Banking Standard, with the Lending Standards Board. The Standard, an agreement between the Government and the banking sector, sets out steps we should take to measure the impact of our decision to close a branch on our customers, how we should communicate this decision to them and the steps we should take to help them continue to bank with us.

As part of the Access to Banking Standard, we will send this Impact Assessment to customers of branches that are closing when we announce our decision to close. A copy of this document is also available at the branch that is closing or to download from our website.

We will publish an updated version on our website, which includes any communication and feedback from stakeholders, before the branch closes.

Customers with a debit card can make immediate cash deposits and card withdrawals up to their cash machine limit, and make balance enquiries. Personal and business customers can also deposit cash and cheques using a paying-in slip at any Post Office branch (the cash deposit limit for personal customer is £2,000, limits also apply to business customers). Deposits made at the Post Office using a paying-in-slip will take at least one additional day to credit to your account. We are planning to enhance services for business customers with the Post Office later this year.
